Of all ways of advertising a country the best seems to be the bringing together of the man and the land, either by taking the man to the land or bringis to be a great street pageant, where. ing the products of the land to the of the principal feature is a represent man. Home seekers' excursions make the first method possible for many. Those who are too busy or too purse poor to take a land seeking journey can surely find time to examine the produces of a country, if brought to their door.

That is what Hon. Jerry Simpson and Mr. Page, of Roswell, N. M., are F. H. Pierce left this afternoon for strip of land and secure judgment in the asylum authorities from the relative buggy.
